Pirate Paul Makes a Booty Call

Peggy Plank, Chiara Galletti
To delight weary parents — a children's book parody with a double-entendre title

Summary

Hookers and Blow Save Christmas was the hot gift of the season last year, and now Pirate Paul comes on the scene to steal some gift-book bounty. A sincere picture book story with a title designed to make parents giggle, Pirate Paul Makes a Booty Call is poised to follow in the footsteps of other novelty kids' books with titles designed to appeal to exhausted parents who somehow haven't lost their senses of humor.

Contributor Bio

Peggy Plank is the crazy aunt your kids need! Her hobbies include showing up at your house right before bedtime with loads of sugary treats, telling your kids all the insane things you did as a teenager, and making funny faces behind you when you speak sternly.

I Deserve All the Treats

Cat Affirmations for Health, Happiness, and World Domination

Jennifer Calvert, Malgorzata Detner

Affirmations and advice from the most adorably self-possessed creatures on the planet

Summary

With the perfect combination of humor and helpfulness, Cat affirmations brings your affirmation practice down to Earth—as in, low to the ground. That’s where you’ll find the whiskered wisdom you seek. As any cat lover will tell you, these persnickety felines know who they are, what they want, and how to get it. Embrace the furry logic and four-legged poise that helps cats thrive in any environment and you’ll find yourself feeling calm, confident, and ready to take on (or over) the world in no time!

Examples:

- Own your mistakes proudly. Unless you can blame the dog.
- Give yourself permission to sleep as long as you need to.
- Sharpen your claws and stay fierce.

What's Your F*cking Destiny?

Manifest Your Dreams Using Astrology

Amelia Wood

A cheeky guide to harnessing the power of the zodiac to get what you want

Summary

The concept of manifesting has moved from the fringes to the mainstream — no longer a New Age idea, millennials and Gen Zers have embraced this ages-old practice of focusing on what you want as a means of achieving it. This sassy, swearsy look at manifesting uses astrology as a tool to help you make your dreams come true.

Contributor Bio

Amelia Wood is a Gemini who gets sh*t done. When she's not staring into your soul after you've told her your sign, she can be found multitasking the sh*t out of writing projects and charming the pants off all of her friends and accomplices.

One Card a Day Tarot Journal

365 Daily One-Card Readings for a Year of Intuitive Reflection

Melanie Baker

Keep track of your daily one-card readings for a rich tarot experience in just minutes a day

Summary

One of the best - and most common - ways to engage with tarot is to pull one card each morning and let its meaning set your intentions for the day. This practice is used by beginners and experts alike to incorporate tarot into their daily lives, without a major time investment. This journal acts as your daily companion - it offers space to jot down which card you pulled, what it represents, and how it might relate to your day, along a space at the bottom for an optional evening reflection. As the days pass, you can look back to determine patterns and improve your card interpretation skills.

Free Yourself from Emotionally Immature Parents

A Journal for Adults with Toxic Families

Asha Gibson

A journal for moving beyond a toxic upbringing

Summary

Emotionally immature parents come in many forms - some are narcissists who see their children as extensions of themselves, some are selfish and often put their own needs ahead of their children's, and some are more subtle in their manipulation. Dismissing a child's feelings, grand gestures as substitutes for stability, and constant fighting and drama between the parents can have a lasting impact on children's emotional health. This journal helps adult children of emotionally immature parents break the cycle of toxic parenting and practice maturity in their own relationships. With insightful prompts that help readers find healing and hope, this journal will appeal to the millions of people who have suffered at the hands of their immature parents.
